

Hello Johnny,

I have a serious problem developing lately.

I cannot hit a fly with a fly swatter – even he is half dead already.

I have tried different grips, different approaches, various levels of aggression. I always end up hitting beside him – close – but no hits.

Do you think I throw my aim off because I am just too nice a guy to kill a harmless little insect?

No Bill – you are just old. - Deal with it :).
